

Tooling

The next most important issue in producing the perfect part lies in a set of dies produced correctly and accurately according to the design. Every stage of dies is designed in our CAD/CAM department the process is simulated before committing to metal. Then, dies are manufactured using the most up-to-date CNC high speed machinery in our die shops. Dies are fully tested before being released to production.